PROLOGUE

A Treatment of BIOPSY
in Hysterical Context

Pretty springtime approached, and the scheming rogues, full well intending to lie thither from Iowa, their cranial coffers brimming with clinically-cultured pearls - purchased for them by Sugar Daddy Legislature- once again donned the musty ceremonial robes and descended into the sacred chamber as their forebearers had done since time immemorial. There, amid the cobwebs, flickering candles, and empty C.C. bottles, far below the sterile altars to scalpels and herbs, the crude presses were set to life again. Dark, leering faces awaited the annual BILE-OPSY, the journal of current ferments in bile, spleen, excrement and animal husbandry. BILE-OPSY, the paradoxical periodical with a soul as pure as the driven snow, but, alas, a second personality as black as ink. (Had he had the mystical prowess to foresee such fruits as this of his Frankenstein mouster-to-be, Gutenberg would undoubtedly have axed the ink-stained offspring of his cerebral womb in furied indignation.)

Were these dedicated disciples of healing and heresy to perpetrate the dastardly tradition of preparing a vintage with 99% dregs and 1% thoughtful discourse? Or were they to bravely innovate and press out an unprecedented 100% dregs? (Only you, tasting of this filet mignon among the literary hamburgers of the U. of I. campus, will judge that.)

In respect to the commands of custom, BILE-OPSY had to contain several daring but outrageously witty cartoons. These conventionally were to deal with such worthy villains and heroes as distasteful father figures and bestiality, respectively - or as you wish, and other matters so close to the heart of the budding physician.

In the same rousing fashion, the moral and intellectual integrity, parenthood and gender of several College of Medicine faculty members were to be raised to question and punctually dismissed as little, inconsequential, absent, or otherwise despicable.

Chiropractors received a well-earned drubbing in a recent issue; but from the indelicate substance of the essay, the author appeared to have been suffering from that insidious infirmity, dementia scatalogica. (Ironic, isn't it, that these nefarious frauds, D.C.'s, are permitted to wreak their havoc for fun and profit in this culture which is supposedly a beneficiary of the Ages of Reason and Enlightenment and is riding on a surge (and through the vapors) of unprecedented mastery over the devotees of D.C.'s would also be attracted to the Mayo Clinic if it were taken over by Ringling Bros.- Barnum and Bailey.)

The nursing students also were to receive a touching salute of one sort or another. Of course, the intrepid authors of BILE-OPSY, testosterone running amuck through their hypothalami, rarely forgot - in print or out- that these merry maidens are of one of the loveliest sexes known to Western Man.

Yes, the issue was always, in the truest sense, the thoughts and feelings of sentimental, long-indentured apprentices who grasped at the one last chance to linger and reminisce before shedding their Gentian violet-stained cocoons and taking wing. It has been noted on occasion that the literary labors in BILE-OPSY were taken for other than they should have been taken, as well they might, and certain parties "offense woulde tayke." Let it be hoped that such not be the case again! As prophylaxis, a detachable, blank leaf could be included in the magazine, so that those bullied into purchasing the aforementioned could use this leaf to shield their eyes from possibly devastating perversity.

As it is written: "The devising of folly is sin, and the scoffer is an abomination to men."

It is also written: "It is not good to eat much honey, so be sparing of complimentary words." (God, Lord. The Bible. Augustana Book Concern. Revised, 1952.)

Diagnosis of the Month:

The real state legislator is: A. or B. (circle one.)

"Can't understand why they don't want to practice in this congenial, comfortable state. Perhaps they would appreciate their education more if they had to pay more."

B.

"Why don't they stay in Iowa? We got good hogs and corn and its gonna get even better."

The following is a critical evaluation of this year's house staff. All of those not mentioned were not forgotten. They have, in fact, had such distinguishing careers that they failed to register in the plus or minus side, i.e. they influenced no one. The scale used is a 5 point scale-- -2 through plus 2.

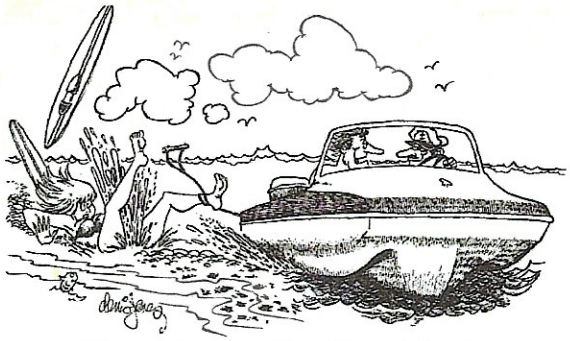
New Rock-and-Roll Song:
I TRIED TO HIDE
WHAT I FELT INSIDE . . .
BUT IT ALL LEAKED OUT AND RAN.

"If you're a PRACTICAL Nurse, I'm hungry . . . NURSE me!"



"Keep going . . . with a 100 yard douche for once she's gonna be clean!"

ATTENTION OB STAFFMEN:

If you want to be real doctors and be responsible for total patient care of your private patients--then draw your own Goddamn Blood!

He called his doctor and began shouting hysterically, "My five-year-old son just swallowed a contraceptive!"
"Don't worry, I'll be right over."
As the doctor was about to leave his office, the phone rang again and the same caller announced, "Forget it, Doc. I found another one!"

Preacher finding two boys masturbating: "You keep that up and you'll go blind!"
First boy to second: "Let's just do it till we need glasses."

Girls, do you know how you can tell that the mail has come . . . when your box is full. . .

Old virgins never die . . . in fact they haven't even lived.

DIARRHEA

Some people think it's funny
But it's really brown and runny.

FUNNIEST STORY FOR GROWNUPS ONLY

A gorgeous girl walked into the SUI psychiatrist's office. No sooner had she closed the door, when the doctor ripped off her clothes and attacked her. After fifteen minutes, he got up and said, "Well, that takes care of my problem. What's yours?"

Recent Peds Conference Comment

TO THE CHIEFS

Congratulations Chiefs, you won the battle for Dean. Departmental Autonomy will continue to reign. Ah, but lets take a look at how you reign.

We'll dispense with Dr. Bean as our predecessors did as the phantom, racket-swinging, bike-riding ?

To Sidney, our compliments on the acquistion of Dr. Printen. I hope this foretells the rise of the Surgery Department from the "primordial ooze". (To quote whats-his- name)

To Dr. Keettel who has proven that the generation gap is not one of chronological age, we commend you on your efforts in extending the health services of your fine department.

Dr. Dunphy is one of the few chiefs who can and will teach medical students (of all people) and still maintain a fine department.

Dr. Carney gets the Dr. Dunphy award for teaching and the George Wallace award for over the coffee chatter.

Dr. McCabe, we need ENT men faster than every 5 years. That's all!!

NOBODY IS PERFECT

Each one of us is a mixture of good qualities and perhaps not-so-good qualities. In considering our fellow man, we should remember his good qualities and realize that his faults only prove that he is, after all, a human being. We should refrain from making harsh judgment of a person just because he happens to be a dirty, rotten, no-good, son-of-a-bitch.

SURGERY

For many years, our famous Surgery Department has had so much shit piled upon them in each Biopsy issue that it was not until September that they were usually shovelled out. In the past this treatment has been entirely justified, and no doubt this issue will contain a number of deserving remarks concerning several of the Surgery staff and residents (they are such ripe targets). However, we cannot help but be amazed that the Surgery rotations have shown some improvement this year, and this fact is deserving of some acknowledgement. Much of the credit for this change can be given to the "Junior Staff", especially to the big man from the windy city, Dr. Ken Printen, who has revamped the senior rotation. Instead of wasting all their time laughing at residents' silly efforts, seniors now have the opportunity to work exclusively with a staff man, which usually results in at least some teaching (even if this means only working-up lymphomas or gastric bipasses). Fast-Eddie Hartford has now completed his stormy transition from resident to staff, and along with Drs. Gulesserian and Printen do some excellent teaching. The junior rotation cannot help but also be improved, as (1) they no longer have to spend all their time writing 26 page workups (leaving some time for reading) and (2) good teaching conferences have replaced the (laugh) "Scheduling Conferences", where all that was ever learned was how poorly the residents had their patients worked-up. Although this department has far to go (starting from zero), we do appreciate the efforts of the several who have started to care. Keep it up gentlemen- maybe it may rub off on some of your superiors (or even more funny, some of your residents).

ORTHOPEDICS

Biopsy takes its hat off to the Department of Orthopedics. In fact we're going to take off our shoes, socks, and jock strap too--we're going to bare it for you baby. A concensus of opinion of SWCs ranks orthopedics as the low point of our medical training--no other service so epitomized farting in the wind. Sure we know how to prescribe bed rest and aspirin for low back pain but so do our mothers. But what she doesn't know is how to set a fracture and neither do we!

"TIGHTWAD"
Or, the Virgin and the Tampax

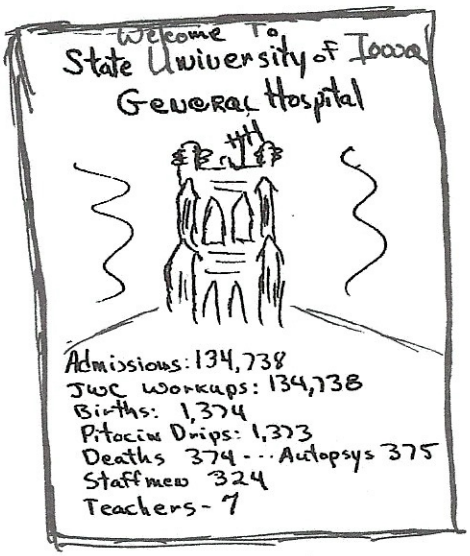
Rastus bought himself a new pair of shoes and told the store just to throw his worn-out old pair away. Then, on the way home in his new shoes, he stopped in the movie with his wife, Mandy. During the show his feet started burning something awful in those tight new shoes, and Mandy suggested he take them off and enjoy the show. Then came the problem! When the show was over, Rastus' feet were so swollen he couldn't get his shoes back on. So Mandy said, "It isn't far . . . just walk home without 'em and carry 'em," and Rastus did. On the way home, Mandy started laughing and laughing, and Rastus said, "Why are you laughing, woman?" and Mandy, between giggles, replied, "This reminds me of our wedding night . . . that was the other night in your life when you REALLY SOCKED IT HOME!"

"If you're pulling out Paw, can I go with you?"

IN RETROSPECT . .

Trying to come up with a constructive analysis of my last four years at the Tower was not an easy chore. (Besides, this annual literary work is not exactly noted for construction.) In addition to the whole shit pot of facts, syndromes and figures, I find the insensitive "I don't give a damn about people" attitude of many of the doctors in the healing, money making art of medicine damn disgusting. (Pissed off so to speak.) Except for a few exceptions, the health care problems of the people of Iowa are approached by most of the Tower staff with as much balls as the average Kleinfetter's.

With the term "indigent" in clear focus maybe it is time to ask why a tax supported hospital is such a nice comfortable rest for a private practice. Yes, it's nice to have residents and med students to cover call, work up patients and do scutwork, and have a nice big office to impress patients referred from LMD's, but the present system is NOT FAIR. In this hospital, of all places, there should be ONE CLASS of patients. People, just plain people, not private people, clinical pay people and indigent people. Even their privates should not be private. Keep the mind of the students open, that's what I say. Treat people like indigent creatures and they are looked upon as something lower than scum. Yes, I know students must have patients to learn, but why does one have the right to buy a special place in a "teaching hospital" where you are no longer teaching material. I think the present class system is unfair to both students and patients.



THE PLAGUE

A strange calamity has befallen the Thursday afternoon "Drug Day". Scenes reminiscent of Biblical plagues have taken place throughout the winter with hordes of white-jacketed freshmen and sophomores (perhaps we should refer to them as rabbits rather than locusts) descending to strip the unsuspecting detail men of their wares. Without question, the most disquieting characteristic of these "rabbits" is the rate at which they devour the provided nutrients, namely, the coffee and rolls. Rid us, Oh Lord of Ivory Towers, from this awful pestilence and famine.

"It's just that now at my age, I prefer a good bowel movement."

LIMERICKS

There once was a resident named Koch
About whom could be written a book.
Before referring to lasses
As bastards or asses,
He should stand 'fore the mirror for a look.

There is a Fellow named Inman,
An insecure "Doc" if there is'un.
Without lab tests each day,
And the Staff Man's okay,
He's unable to make a decision.

There was an intern named Blue,
Who couldn't add two plus two.
But he thought he knew all,
And he'd say so with gall.
You can tell he's from Pritzger U.

A surgeon named Hans Erhenhaft
Is far from what one would call soft.
He throws tantrums each day
To his residents dismay,
But teachers like him aren't found oft.

STUDENT POLITICS

Last year's Student Council president was a man of noise, action, and results. Although the results were not always in the best interests of medical students, he did get results. One must not, of course, forget the other dubious leaders of last year's political fun and games. Caduceus was designed for it's ultimate flop by last year's leaders. SAMA, that vibrant organization of medical students, has succeeded in doing even less than the previous year.

Why have these student organizations become stagnant and even repugnant to the majority of medical students? Is it not because of the egoistical bastards at the helm. Take Student Council for example. What have they done this year? Nothing. They have succeeded in establishing a pseudo-dictatorship by such tactics as not notifying those representatives who would oppose certain topics to be acted on at a particular meeting. Big Pete and Little Joe aren't about to have anything but their own way in the tradition of last year's whimpy Mike.

Caduceus is so damned unimportant, thanks to it's leader in the heavens, that no comment is justified.

SAMA, the hotbed of action, deserves some credit. Through the auspices of it's sophomore leader who is unknown to 60 per cent of SAMA's membership, several good issues of SAMA News were published. Unfortunately after November the subjects of Chiropractry and Osteopathy were used to add nausea. What was previously a drab publication was enlightened with interesting covers and art work. However, the printed work was usually trivia.

In concluding this tid bit which is in actuality very complimentary considering the assholes involved, we hope that in the future medical student representatives will be chosen by qualifications and not by who they knew in last year's group of hot dogs.

UROLOGY

Each year, in conjunction with the undistinguished and ineffective Caduceus Club, Biopsy has welcomed the opportunity to critically evaluate one teaching department within the hospital. This year we have chosen to direct our remarks to the illustrious Urology Department and its well known subdivision, General Surgery. Tabulating the results from this comprehensive survey yielded the following conclusions.

1. Dr. Webster should be banned from the O.R. because she is unable to keep her big tits out of the wound. She should in turn be replaced by the less well endowed "Tricia Wilson."

2. Dr. C.E. Hawtrey was unanimously selected to be the annual recepient of the Carol Small, RN, Prick of the Year Award.

3. Drs. Jackson, Kellogg, Boldus, and Newstead should be commended for their excellent teaching.

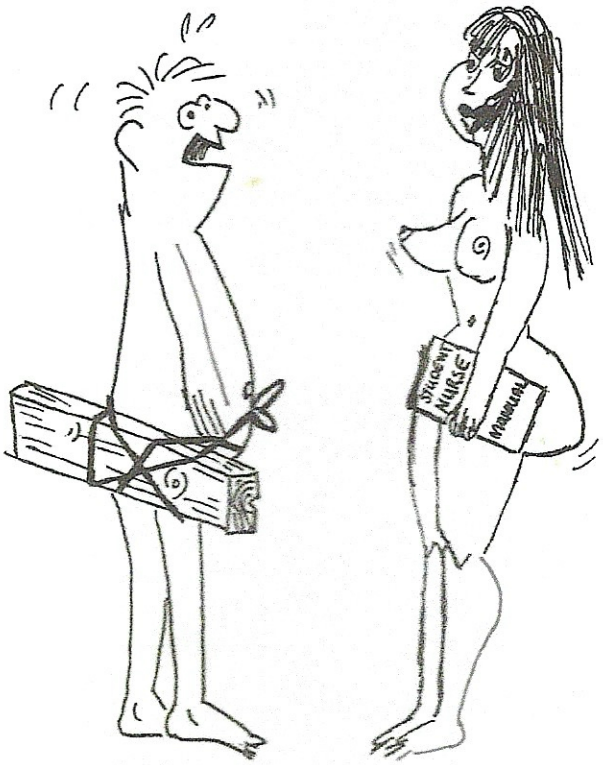
4. J. W. C.s should be required to come in before 6:30 A.M. so that they would be able to sort and shag more x-rays.

5. There is an apparent inconsistency in having 3rd and 4th surgical assitants and at the same time leaving two general surgery residents to fumble through a busy clinic.

6. Dr. Wickman has yet to master the basic fundamentals of a properly executed urinalysis but then consider his mentor, Dr. J.M. Croach.

7. Encourage the residents to do more typing and less teaching thereby reducing the need for secretaries and allotting Bill Bonney another 10 million dollars for the next transplant.

8. Reuben Flocks and Sidney Ziffren are merely friends and nothing else.



"Hell yes I believe you're a virgin... why do you ask?"

SENIOR QUIZ

1) Kretzschmar's favorite operation is:
   a) ureteral ligation
   b) single-digit rectal perforation

   d) voted by JWCs as man whose secretary would most like to punch

7) Andre Lascari:
   a) recently received Michael Yannone award for "Tactician of the Year"
   b) the "Dairy Cattle Congress Bull of the Month", has had iron-deficiency anemia since age 6mo.-2 yrs.
   c) soon to be replaced by D.P. Synhorst, M.D.

8) Orthopedics Department
   a) will crumble with the loss of Andrew Weiss
   b) still will have an outstanding resident in "Shit-on-a-stick"
   c) has most raw asses from certain SWCs trying to get residencies

9) Joe Brown
   a) who is Joe Brown?

10) George Perret
   a) allows his residents to draw blood
   b) allows only his senior residents to draw blood
   c) "rose are red, violets are blue ..." still holds true

11) Sidney Ziffren
   a) is Rubin Flock's favorite boy-friend
   b) considers washing hands after urination an adequate scrub for surgery
   c) ought to be taking orders from Toledo

12) Outstanding achievement in teaching of internal medicine, preservation of student dignity, and maintenance of patient welfare
   a) Dr. W. Kirkendall
   b) Dr. Rabinovich
   c) Dr. Champion
   d) all above

13) Champion of the dogmatic and occasionally incorrect statement
   a) Dr. Walgren
   b) Dr. DiBona
   c) Dr. Abboud

14) Successful back-slayer award
   a) Dr. Clifton
   b) Dr. Baker
   c) Dr. Den Besten

15) Unsuccessful back-slayer award
   a) Dr. Stone
   b) Dr. Kirkendall

16) Man least qualified to be Dean
   a) Dr. Ray Sheets
   b) Dr. Jack Eckstein
   c) Dr. Joe Brown
   d) Dr. Rowdybrusch
   e) R. B. Hill

17) Top 4 aspirants in medical school politics
   a) Bill Jackson
   b) Pete Ferguson
   c) Joe Robinette
   d) R. B. Hill

IMAGINARY CONVERSATIONS

Two cannibals sat on a desert island discussing their culinary preferences. "Have you ever tried to eat a psychiatrist?" one of them asked doubtfully. "Eat one!" the other replied. "Have you ever tried to clean one!"

Two corpses lay in the autopsy room awaiting their fate. One turned to the other who had been around longer, and inquired a bit fearfully, "Does it hurt very much when they do the autopsy on you?" "No," the other said, "it seems like it only gets rough down here if you get a surgery resident as your pathologist."

A few of the sweet young things on the OB ward were passing their day as usual gossiping about the medical staff. "Why would a nice young man like Dr. X go into a field like this," one of them wondered, "poking around women's privates and getting himself all dirty." "Oh," replied another, it was a natural transition for him. He used to play quarterback on a football team and worked as a meatpacker during the summer."

Late into first semester the cadavers in the anatomy lab were having a midnight get-together, reviewing the misadventures of the previous day. One of them commented wistfully, "I didn't really mind too much when they cut off my penis in the interests of science, but I did think it was terrible when they put it in the lab notebook of that girl medical student." "Yeah," said another, "but I thought it was even worse when she kept it for herself for a couple of weeks."

DEFINITION

Jell-o: Kool aid with a hard on.

DEPARTMENT EVALUATION

ANESTHESIOLOGY - The department pulling it self out of the doldrums. Residents are vastly improved. Congratulations on the acquisition of some good young staff men.

SURGERY - Still not a good department, but at least an effort has been made. There are some good young staff men. Hope you can keep them. Bulletin: Thoracic Surgery cares.

DERMATOLOGY - Damn good coffee. Good teaching. A lot of fun. Basically good residents. Croxdale, you're a loud mouthed SOB, but a pretty good guy anyway. Fine coed skin.

MEDICINE - Varies widely with your staff man. There are a few who are good teachers. From this the largest department we would commend for their efforts:

Mahoney !

UROLOGY - Without the sorting of X-rays this could be an excellent teaching service. With Xray sorting it's still better than average. Despite a few poor residents, the majority are good.

NEUROLOGY - It's hard to criticize a department with a good staff, good residents, and an excellent teaching effort by all.

ENT - F * * * YOU

ORTHOPEDICS - For a service that is one of the best in the nation, what criteria do you use for selecting residents? Wish someone would kiss my ass. How much do you pay American Airlines each month, faculty?

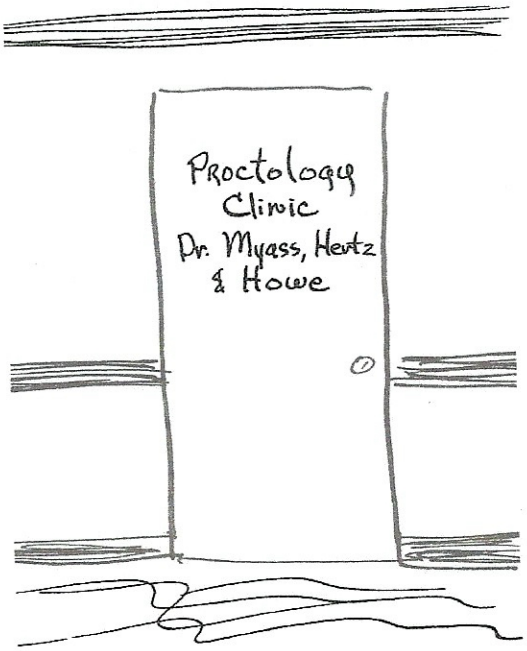
OB-GYN - What a diversified department. Quality or Horseshit.

PEDIATRICS - Thank God the House staff is improving. Staff men are damn good and maybe the House staff will catch up some day. Staff men do an excellent job of teaching. Junior rotation leaves a lot to be desired.

PSYCHIATRY - One excellent teacher. Some young ones with promise. Child Psych - - - - Who went?

RADIOLOGY - Dolan is good. Selke was excellent- losing him hurt the whole hospital.

COFFEE SHOP - By far the most interesting course. Decreases in stature during the clinical years. Don't forget the law of conservation states that you have to eat every beaver you shoot.



In recent years graduating seniors have been closely screened so that immoral M.D.'s cannot reach the status of staffman, as has been the practice in the past. Rumors of the Black Box almost came true this year--but it's impracticality was witnessed in the first senior interview by the psyc department.

Dr. Moeller: I hear from the urology department that you're not willing to spend your entire day sorting x-rays and doing U.A.'s; they say you didn't agree with spending 23 hours a day in the hospital. They say you're only looking for adventure, excitment and beautiful broads.

SWG: You're right, Sir, how can I argue with that. Are you going to stop me from graduating?

Dr. Moeller: Stop you? What the Hell are you talking about. Take me along.

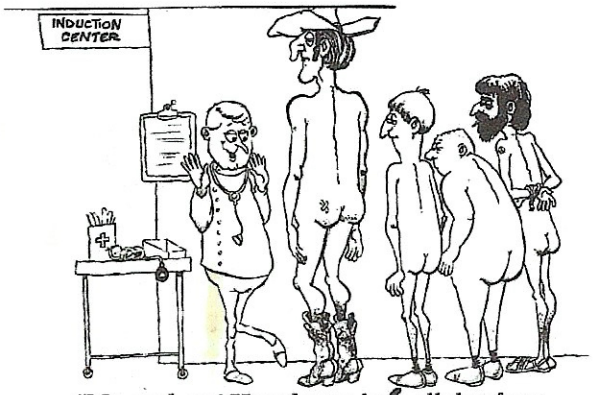
A special thanks from those few juniors who were lucky enough to have him for their attending staff, to Dr. Robert Luchi (Department of Internal Medicine), for his great interest in students and his enthusiasm for teaching medicine. He is a true gentleman, an excellent clinician, a provocative teacher, and a friend to his students. It is regrettable that because he must divide his time between UH and VAH so few students have had the opportunity to profit from exposure to one of our outstanding staff members.



"My goodness! How do you keep all that from spoiling without refrigeration?"

Woman in Sigmoid Room: "I don't know what's worse, having a baby or having a sigmoidoscopic exam."

SWC: "Make up your mind, baby, I've got to know which way to tilt this table."

IN TRIBUTE . . .

The graduating seniors would like to take this opportunity to thank a certain special group of people; namely, all the many wonderful elderly and not so elderly ladies throughout the hospital, RNs, ward-clerks, lab personnel, dieticians, maids and the like, who have spent their many years of employment memorizing and enforcing the thousands of minute rules and regulations that only the female mind can fathom and that are so vital to proper patient care. By infinite repetition of your menial tasks you have so elevated your own concept of self importance that your pseudo inflated egos cannot resist the temptation to give the "benefit" of your knowledge to the lowly medical student.

We were especially fond of the thoughtful way you would scream at the top of your voices to inform us of our infractions when we came as new unsuspecting students to your various areas. We throughly enjoyed to hear the sweet sound of your raspy voice calling down the hall to us. "Hey Boy, you in a heap o'trouble now. I just . . ."

a) mopped the floor
b) found your IV infiltrated
   i.e., I let it run dry
c) found the blood you drew has clotted
   i.e., I dropped the tube
d) saw you steal a cookie off that dead man's tray
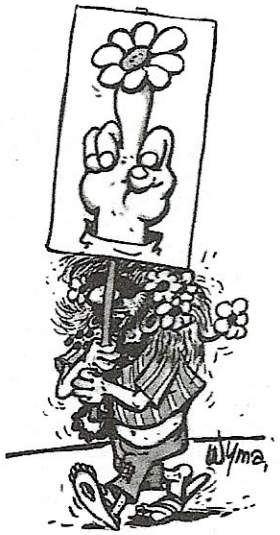
e) started my period.

To show our concern and appreciation for you, we would like to give you this little token of our esteem.

The First Annual Wicked Old Bitch Award



We take great pride in presenting this award to you. Unfortunately, we must soon leave you here in Iowa City as we go to start our internships. But, we hope, that before we leave that we can each personally tell every one of you just where you can shove it.

EPILOGUE

" If we shadows have offended
Think but this, and all is mended,
That you have but slumber'd here,
While these visions did appear.
And this weak and idle theme,
No more yielding than a dream,
Gentles, do not reprehend - - - -"
